

BUS 8500 Graduate Seminar: Business Policies and Strategies

Credit Hours: 3

Prerequisites: Completion of all core courses in the MBA program or approval of advisor.

Course Description:

Capstone course in which participants develop a major case study of business administration issues, programs and policies in a current organization. Draws from and utilizes concepts, theories, and skills developed in previous courses.

EMBA PROGRAM STUDENTS:

All assignments, discussions, activities, projects, and homework in this course are focused around the student's current employment. The central focus of this EMBA program is unlike other MBA programs in that it is designed to provide students with opportunities to network learning from multiple employment environments and perspectives. Students are expected to compare and contrast personal and current work experiences with those of other students in the course. Ottawa University considers this uniquely designed curriculum a perhaps once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for its students to internalize learning through practical application, combining current real-time experiences with classroom theory, creative testing, analysis, modeling, and research, while applying new concepts to the workplace to improve practice and extend knowledge.

Course Objectives / Program Learning Outcomes:

This capstone course allows students, through reflective and introspective activity, to demonstrate their academic development and knowledge within the learning outcomes established for the Master of Business Administration (MBA).

Cognitive Learning Outcomes

1. Analyze, integrate, and apply theories, research, and techniques to plan and serve effectively within one's professional field of study.
 - a. Create comprehensive business strategies and envision potential futures that integrate organizational functions in achieving sustainable competitive advantage.
 - b. Possess knowledge of current theory and techniques of the major business disciplines.
 - c. Effectively utilize quantitative analysis methods to identify salient information and trends in data.
 - d. Develop key research questions, access relevant information, evaluate information and its sources critically, and synthesize and apply that information.
2. Acquire knowledge of laws, ethics, and values and apply this knowledge to make decisions appropriate to one's professional practice.
 - a. Appraise social responsibility and ethical situations, questions, and issues and select best practices for ethical business decision-making.

Last Review/Revision: November 2016
Lead Faculty: Marylou DeWald

3. Communicate effectively as professionals.
 - a. Design, plan, execute and evaluate communication methodologies at organizational, team, and individual levels.

Affective Learning Outcomes

4. Demonstrate an understanding of the value of continued personal and professional development.
 - a. Assess the value of continued learning and propose a plan for personal and professional development.
5. Model Ottawa University values and culture by practicing mutual respect, encouragement, and support within and beyond the learning community.
 - a. Cultivate and manage personal and professional relationships and resources. Build upon these resources to accomplish organizational goals.

Building on its foundation as a Christ-inspired community of grace and open inquiry, Ottawa University prepares professional and liberal arts graduates for lifetimes of personal significance, vocational fulfillment, and service to God and humanity.